The Late Movement as Seen from Opposite Standpoints.

All Quiet in the City To-day.

National Associated Press to the Star. Now ORLEANS, Jan. 10-1 A. M. den. Longstreet, at New Orleans, has committed him elf fully against the Kellogg Government, believing that both Tilden and Nicholls have carried Louisiana beyond all disputation. He proposes, however, to take no active part in the pending dispute. Governor Packard reports the metropolitan tele-graph wire out, and be has established communication with United States Marshal Pitkin at the Custom-house by "The United States troops are at the New Orleans special to to-day's Ga-New Orleans Hotel, two blocks away, zotte.] watching the crowd on the square, but are not under arms. The excitement increases with every movement, and the situation is exceedingly critical. The State-house is defended as is thought to be by about twelve hundred men, mostly uegroes. The new police force being thoroughly organized, the militia handed over to them the regular stations, General Augur stated his instructions and intentions were to keep peace. He said in the event of a condict in any of he streets of a serious character he vould intervene.

At dark the Marshal's militia was concentrated at Lafayette Square and tall watching the State-house and preventing negroes and the receipt of sup-plies. The intention now is to starve the Packard garrison.

LATER. All Quiet This Morning.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 .- General Au-

gur telegraphs the War Office this morning that no disturbance has yet occurred in New Orleans: that is, there has been no collision between the two faceral Augur will not interfere unless a fight occurs between the Nicholls and Packard forces, and then he will only interfere to keep the peace.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 10 .- All is quiet, but both parties are very reticent. Lines of Nicholis' police and metropolitans both guard the State-house. Inside the State-house are metropolitans looking like they had been on duty all night without sleep, and members of the Legislature presenting a similar appear Governor Packard looked as cool and Governor Packard looked as cool and collected as on yesterday. He stated that there was no change in the situation since last evening, beyond the fact that the House would have a quorum teday, which was prevented yesterday by lears of the members.

The Senate still wants one to complete a quorum. Ex-Governor Kellogg, United States Marshai Pitkin, and otuers, were present, engaged in earnest conversation. All were very relicent and declined to give any information as to their lines of policy or intentions.

Secretary Cameron says he has now no apprehension of a conflict; that at the conference just had with the Democratic members of Louisiana full assurance was given to that effect.
As a result of the conference between the President, Goneral Speridan and Secretary Cameron, the following telegram was sent; "WASHINGTON, Jan. 10, 1877.

General S. S. Augur, New Orleans, La.: "It is reported that the State-house in New Orleans is surrounded by a mob. If this is so, notify all persons to disperse, and compel compliance with your order. It is the determination of the President to see that the Legislature is not molested. When he has full knowledge of the facts in the premises, he will decide which should be recognized.

[Signed] "J. D. CAMERON,

"Secretary of War."

From New Orleans Special in to-day's Commercial.]

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 10 .- It is certain that Warmota heads the movement to break up the quorum of the Republican Legislature, and it looks to-night as if it would succeed. The Republican Legislature will remain in session all night. The Republican leaders are much dis-hearweig, and look anxiously to Washington for aid. They say they must make a movement to-morrow to recover what they have lost, or the colored members of the Legislature will desert them. Gen. Augur received orders from the Secretary of War to-lay to disperse all illegal organizations likely to disturb the peace. He notified the commander of Nicholls' militia that they must disband, and the order was obeyed. Gen Augur does not consider that Nicholls police come under his instructions. These are sufficient to control the city. From New Orleans Special in to-day's En

The situation at midnight is briefly this: The Nicholls Government have possession of all the Courts in the city, the police stations, and, in fact, every thing pertaining to the establishment of a legality elected Government. Per contra. Packard, with a few companies of megro militia ready to desert the moment opportunity offers, and a couple of bundred defunct police, with a few legislators, are cooped up in their own garrison, airaid even of their own shadows. The police as well as negro militia and son, airaid even of their own shadows. The police, as well as negro militia and legislators, are prisoners themselves, and by mutual intimidation by their leaders prevent each other from abandoning the crowd and joining the legal Government or going to their homes. At one time during the day Packard marshaled even the Legislature into his service, and compelled all to take arms to defend him. He then thought that the Nicholls militia would attack his old shake-down of a building, but they didn't want it, and up to miunight not a gun Marshal Pitkin at the Custom-house by means of the United States Signal Corps.
The metropolitaus at the State-house are being armed with Springfield rifles, and shops in the French quarter are all has been fired, nor has the slightest disturbance occurred.

In the State-house matters are quiet. At a caucus to-day, it was determined to elect Kellogg for the long term, and Attorney-General Hunt for the short term, but tack of a quorum defeated the programme. The night's siege may effect a change. The Nicholls militia were directed to return to their homes, and report to-morrow morning, but hundreds carrying guns are on the streets, and there are arms for a sufficient number handy in case any attack should be de-sired by the Democratic leaders. Not a United States soldier has appeared in the State-house, all remaining within their barracks. One load of victuals got into the State-house by order of Gen. Nicholis.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 9-12:55 P. M. The Democratic pickets around the State-house have just received orders not to interfere with any one going to or from it. This may be in consequence of the order of the Secretary of War to

THE BENNETT-MAY FARCE.

Little Honor is Preserved With Loss of Little Blood.

Particulars as Far as Received

National Associated Press to the Star.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 .- Regarding the Bennett-May duel there is still great uncertainty as to the damage done. The Times calls it "A Farce in Three Shots." The Times special from Marydell, Maryland, says they fought at twenty pa ces, position face to face. Three shots were exchanged when the seconds interfered and mutual explanations were made. and the affair amicably, though, of course, rather sheepishly settled. Bennett made certain proposals which were accepted. It is believed both men are satisfied, and there will be no further meeting.

The Tribune and Sun both publish specials from Dover, Del., stating that the duel was bloodless, that three shots were exchanged, and matters settled by Bennett making a proposition to May, which the latter accepted.

The Herald has no special on the subject, nor in fact does it contain any mention of the affair. At the Union Club last night several of the members said the due! had been fought and that Bennett was unburt and that May was wounded in the leg. Some hinted their belief that May was before them, claiming that the term for which Luderling and his associates were appointed had expired.

Messrs. Levy, Gibson and Ellis called immediately on the Attorney General and in company with that officer proceeded to the Executive Mansion. The Secretary of War and General Sheridan were in close conference on the Louisiana question, and when that ended the Louisiana representatives had the desired audience with the President.

The interview between the President and Democratic Representatives of Louisiana is stated by the latter to have been very satisfactory, but as they connear the scene of the encounter.

Bennett's Surgeon in the Tombs NEW YORK, Jan. 10 .- Dr. Phelps, who is said to have acted as Bennett's sur-geon in the duel, was summoned before the Grand Jury to-day, and is now being examined. It is believed that subpensas will also be issued for the principals.

Dr. Phelps, on being brought before the Grand Jury, decided not to state whether he had accompanied the Bennett party, or answer any questions in relevance to the duel, until he had con-lerred with his counsel. The latter was sent for and is now in conference with

Adjourned. Color-blind.

To the Editor of the Scar;

It is an old adage that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," Mrs. W. H. Bradley, who lost her and so, in these days of railway accidited by the Ashtabula disaster and herself narrowly escaped death, was a daughter of Dr. Gray, who was killed by way officials may be the means of pre-venting untold damage and loss of life. It is a well-known fact to every student of physiology that such modifications of the iris and retina may exist, that the person may be literally color-blind; that is, unable to distinguish even the seven primal colors, without mentioning the color which are known to exist. recent examination by the authorities of a Swedish railway developed the fact that among two hundred and sixty-six employes eighteen were color-blind. The fallure to distinguish colors by either failure to distinguish colors by either engineers or switchmen would lead almost certainly to disaster and destruction. Would it not be well, then, for our railway authorities to enter into a similar investigation, and are not the traveling public sufficiently interested to demand it? A few worthy men who are thus afficted may temporarily suffer, but who will dare compute the damage. but who will dare compute the damaand loss of life, consequent upon a neg-lect to speedily ascertain so simple a fact? We leave the answer of these questions to all who are interested. CINCINNATI January 10.

Everlasting Harvest, We last week witnessed the queer spectacle of a strawberry patch grow-ing in the open air a week before Christ-mas. The garden is located about six miles above the town of Soquel, and about the same distance from Santa Cruz. A Mr. Thompson is the owner of the rance, and he informed us ithat at any day or month in the year he could go into the patch and gather a: least twenty quarts of the luscious berries in a short time. He now has in cultiva-tion three thousand vines, which occupy half an acre of ground, and from these he has gathered six thousand quarts of the crimson beauties. Haif of this quantity he sold in the local markets at an average of 20 cen's per quart, and the other half he gave away to his neighbors, as there was no demand for them from buyers. Blossoms, green, and flaming red, ripe berries smile and look sedate and blush side by side the whole year through, on the same vine. This certainly is equal, if not superior, to the accient and fabled land that flowed with milk and honey. Now let us see if his crop payy him. To start with, they are not as much trouble to cuitivate as a crop payy him. To start with, they not us much trouble to cuttivate as a patch of string beans would be; then, at patch of string beans would be; then, at an average of 20 cents per quart, the half-tore of ground would net him $600 per year. Not only strawberries, but this gentleman has also a fine orchard of peach and other trees which are very promising -[Santa Cruz (Cal. ) Courier.

A BONANZA OF GOLDEN GRAIN.-Talk about bonanzas! The corn crop of the United States this year amounts to one willion two hundred and ninety-five milback with bows of blue ribbon. A gold non-bushels. At forty cents per bushel, a fair average price the country over, this would be worth $518,000,000. On the other band, the estimated yield of our gold and silver mines for the year will be $83,250,000. With natural tendency of manking to talk and think most about glittering and showy things, we say and hear more about the $85,000,000 of pre-cious metal duz from our Western mines than the $500,000,000 worth of corn which ers of the United States and Canada than the 3000,000,000 worth of corn which the country raises, consumes and selfs, without thinking that it has done sugthing noteworthy. Add to the corn the wheat, cotton, potatoes and fruits produced by the name of the United States in a single year, and the resources of the gold and silver mines seem trivial.

The United States Official Postal Guide The United States Official Postal Guide for January contains an alphabetical list of all the Post-offices in the United States, a list of money-order offices (including the Canadian), tables of domestic and foreign postage, hours of arrival and closing of mais in the principal cities, and full information about registered letters and money orders, with useful suggestions to the public. The number also contains the rulings of the Post-office Decartment on doubt all and number also contains the runings of the Post-office Department on doubt ul and disputed points during the last three months, and a revised list of the salaries now paid to Postmasters of offices of the first, second, and third class. A SLIGHT MISTAKE .- A West Hill man A SLIGHT MISTAKE.—A West Hill man (says Burdette) got up in a vague state of mind the other morning, and, feeling around in the dark for his socks, got hold of his wife's striped stockings. When he pulled them on and stretched them up, he felt so completely dressed that he undo't think of putting on anything of a remail. thing else, but went mooning around until he found a lamp, and fell to ton floor in a fit of terror at the sight of his legs. When they restored him to consciousness, they couldn't make him believe that the house hadn't been burglarized by a circu-blown or an escaped convict, because, he said, "I saw him the minute I struck the match, just as piainly as I see you now. Nobody's safe in these awith times," of this World." Mrs. Hays, of West Bloomfield, New Jersey, accompanied by her infant child, went to visit some friends near Paterson, the other evening, and on getting out of the sleigh she found that her child had ceased to breaths. It is supposed that in wrapping the little one in the buff-lo robe all air was excluded and the little one was suff-cated.

Clara Morris studies her death scenes at the hospitals. If she wants to get up a real genuine gilt-edged, cream laid, diamond pointed expression of agony and apprehension, she should study the face of a man reaching for a soft corn with the heel of his razor. Julia Ward Howe was interviewed as Julia Ward Howe was interviewed at St. Louis. Tilden, she said, would never sit in the President's chair; the literary ability of the Nation was very good, but she didn't like its tone at all, and she had read two papers before the Radical Club on "Polarity" and "The Halfness of this World."

Mrs. Myra Clark Gaines is a very Mrs. Myra Clark Gaines is a very little woman, possessing eyes of pieroing brilliancy, which have changing hues; sometimes toey are black, sometimes a steely gray, and sometimes blue. She is an agreeable woman, talks charmingly, and has the merriest of laughs. When she gets final possession of her fortune she means to build in Washington a fine botel, where members of Coo-gress will be able to live with their famllies without spending more than their

Miss Julia Grant, the PresidenPs granddaugater, was treated with marked attention during the New Year's marked attention during the New Year's reception at the Waite House. The Washington Evening Star says: "Tais young lady, aged six months, received in her nurse's arms, and was not at all disconcerted by the flattering attentions showered upon her. She were a dainty robe of white French lawn, with narrow atrips of insertion showing its pattern ever pale blue silk. The robe was high in the throat, and fastened down too back with bows of blue r.bbon. A said back with bows of blue r bbon. A gold neokiace was clasped about her threat, and dainty gold bracelets, with tiny blue thiquoise hearts pendant, were worn over the long sieeves at the wrists. Upon
